Field Program Update

Gold Digger is also pleased to announce that it has completed its previously announced acquisition of Premium Uranium Corporation and is now getting ready to conduct its first field programs. The Company will attend the Indaba mining conference in Cape Town during the first week of February and will subsequently be sending its first team down to Botswana to start work on the Company's seven uranium licenses located in Letlhakane, within one of the world's most prospective uranium basins. To the Company's knowledge, it is the first company exploring this basin for the possibility of in-situ recovery ("ISR") extraction of uranium. The Company's technical team has undertaken an exploration methodology that takes into consideration the cost benefit of ISR extraction versus conventional mining, as well as the capital expenditure reduction in bringing to light an ISR project versus open pit or underground mining operations.

Upcoming field work will include:

- A geophysical program designed to detect uranium mineralization within the target sandstone formation
- The twinning of historical holes drilled by Anglo America that had intersected the sandstone formation
- Subject the cores to permeability testing and technology application to increase the permeability of the sandstone horizon through Electric Pulse

Advisory Agreement

The Company is also pleased to announce that it has entered into an advisory agreement with Canaccord Genuity Corp. ("Canaccord") pursuant to which Canaccord will act as financial advisor to the Company.
